

Dr Piotr Rozentryt

Dr Piotr Rozentryt obtained his MD from Medical University of Łódź in 1982. After graduation, he started his internal medicine training in Nephrology Department, Medical University of Łódź and finally received second degree specialization of internal medicine in 1988. During his work in Nephrology Department he extended his medical skills and passed exams for specialization of nephrology in 1992. In 1995 he completed his PhD at this Department and moved to Silesian Centre for Heart Disease in Zabrze. Initially he worked as a senior consultant of internal medicine and nephrology in Cardiac Surgery and Transplantation Department. In 1998 he changed his position and currently he holds position of Heart Failure Team Leader and Associate Professor in the Third Department of Cardiology, Silesian Medical University in Katowice.

Between 2011 and 2013 he served as President of Working Group of Heart Failure in Polish Society of Cardiology. His most important medical interests are general cardiology with specific focus on acute coronary syndromes, heart failure and heart – kidney interrelations in clinical practice.

Link to publications - <http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/?term=Piotr+Rozentryt>

